Makes Speech in Reply to Hertling Declaring That Even if France and Britain Are Conquered America Will Still Have to Be Met.

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 26.-Philipp Scheidemann, President of the Social Democratic Party in Germany, answering Chancellor von Hertling's speech in the Main Committee of the Reichstag, warned the military leaders of the Imperial Government that if they did not bring about peace between Germany and Russia "they would be hurled from

"Alas, that period has long since passed, and while the U boat has admittedly harmed England enormously, its chief visible effect has been the entry of tered the war we may be sure the Russian revolution would long ago have brought a general peace.

"What about the army? Sup pose the army should capture Calais and Paris, would that mean peace? I say 'No.'

"Suppose the army conquered France and England, would that mean peace? I say no, for we would still have to conquer America."

Herr Scheidemann declared that an agreement easily was possible on eleven points of President Wilson's statement. "But Mr. Wilson must be told plainly," the spe ker said, "that Alsace is Germany's and will -emain so. If one clear word is spoken regarding Belgium. Eng land's war mongoring will end. An honorable, complete reinstatement of Belgium is our duty."

Herr Scheidemann flercely situcked the militarist leaders, deciaring that their attitude toward Austria was

"If our Government leaders can the Social Democratic leader, "they had better go. I warn them that it they do not bring us peace with Itusela they will be hurled from power

"I cannot ace the day," Herr Beheldemann went on "when Germany will say to the Entente. 'We accept your terms. We are beaton.' But just as little can I see the day when England. France and the United States will say the same to us." Regarding relations between Germany and Austria, Herr Scheidemann said an indication of the Austrian feeling toward the present German regime might be gathered from the fact that during the recent demonstrations. in Vienna the Austrian Emperor
